

Oscillas Technologies, Inc.

Privacy Policy

Revised: 2024-09-10

Oscillas Technologies, Inc. ("Oscillas") is committed to protecting your personal information. Our Privacy Policy is designed to protect the information that we collect from you over the web or other means while providing you with our products and services. This Privacy Policy relates to our use of any personal information you provide to us via phone or text, by email, at events, in correspondence, via our websites, and via our software products.

We want you to understand what information about you does and does not become available to us when you communicate with us over the Internet; what we do and don't do with this information; and how you can control what happens to your personal information.

Who Are We?

Oscillas is a privately held corporation registered in Delaware, United States, with offices in and around Chicago, Illinois. To contact us, please see our address, phone number, and email below.

For EU Residents

If you are an EU resident (a "data subject") and you have a question, or otherwise want to exercise your rights in respect of personal data, you may contact us directly at our email, phone number above, or our contact form.

For California Residents

The California Consumer Protection Act ("CCPA") doesn't apply to Oscillas, because we are below the CCPA's company size (annual revenue) threshold, and because we don't derive any revenue from selling personal information. But please read this page for details about how we use your personal information (very little), and please do contact us with any questions.

What Information Do We Collect About You?

When you create an account using the online registration system on any of our websites, or participate in our services or activities, we may receive personal information about you. This typically includes your name, email address, and telephone, industry, and web pages visited. This information enables us to deliver our software and services, and provide the most relevant online content you select.

When you ask for help via our support, whether online, via phone, or email, we will receive any additional information that you share with us.

Our websites also use cookies to enable you (and only you) to login and access your account, access user guides, examples, and other digital content. Please also note that our websites may include hyperlinks to other websites on the Internet, which have their own privacy practices, and may use their own cookies.

How Do We Use Your Personal Information?

We use your personal information for the performance of our business services (the “Services”) and nothing else. We do not sell or otherwise redistribute your data or personal information to any third parties.

Examples of the Services use of personal information include but are not limited to:

- Delivering our products and services via phone, email, or other digital means
- Contacting you about your experience with our Services
- Providing support related to our Services
- To analyze and improve the operation of our Services

How Long Will We Keep Your Personal Information?

We only maintain your personal information for the performance of our Services, and as a result we tend not to retain any information for persons or entities who are no longer engaged with our Services, with the exception of records necessary to our accounting, state or federal filings, or other legal purposes.

What If I Am Age Sixteen (16) or Younger?

If you are sixteen (16) years of age or younger, please seek a parent or guardian’s permission first before engaging with our services or providing any information to us.

Changes to Our Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy may be updated from time to time, so you may wish to check it each time you submit personal information to us. The date of the most recent revisions will appear on this page. If you do not agree to these changes, please do not continue to use our websites or submit personal information to us.
